RED CROSS CONCERT

DR. HARROWER ANNOUNCES DETAILS OF FIRST MUSICAL PROGRAM

For some days we have known that Glendale was to have a series of Red Cross Concerts under the direction of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who has been working enthusiastically for this splendid cause. We are permitted now to disclose some information about the first program and we are confident that it will be received with pleasure by those who have secured tickets, and, too, that it will be a great stimulus to those who have postponed buying their tickets, to do so without delay. There is a limit to the capacity of our large High School auditorium; and we predict that it will be filled to overflowing on Monday night.

The Glendale Municipal Band will give some numbers and will accompany the whole audience while singing several patriotic songs. This, alone, will be a delight to all who enjoy mass singing. Mrs. Catherine Shank, who is well known to Glendale's musical circles, will sing two songs. Mr. Julius Kranz will play one of his own compositions on the violin as well as a beautiful number by Fritz Kreisler. Mr. Francis Henry will appear in costume and sing some of Harry Lauder's inimitable songs in his inimitable way. We can see some of our few serious-faced Glendalians "splitting their sides" at both the words and the music. Still another humorous selection is promised, this time an Irish song "Soldier's Three" to be sung by Mr. Edward Malley.

Spoken numbers will include a patriotic reading by Miss Alice Frank and an equally patriotic recitation by Miss Doris Packer. The Sanitarium nurses who are to assist in the ushering and program selling will also sing in a double quartette which will be a pleasant surprise to those who have not heard them before; and last, but not least, the worthy President of the Glendale Auxiliary of the American Red Cross, will speak of its work.

Fourteen numbers on the program, including no less than eighteen items, sounds like big value for the few cents that the admission costs. And all the proceeds for the Glendale Red Cross.

Remember to get your ticket at once, the number is rapidly diminishing and you may "get left." Also remember the date—Monday next, May the seventh, at a quarter to eight sharp, at the High School Auditorium.

MITE BOX OPENING

The ladies of the Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church enjoyed a most delightful afternoon at the home of Miss Luella Collins, 118 So. Kenwood St., Thursday, May 3rd, it being their annual mite box opening. A good attendance with several visitors enjoyed a most interesting and entertaining program. Miss Susine Wessels accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain delighted her audience with two violin selections. Mrs. Harding sang beautifully.

Mrs. Snudden gave a short sketch of Missionary history, which was certainly appreciated by all. Mrs. Brockman's paper was entitled, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them." Mrs. Harding also gave an interesting paper. The afternoon was closing all too fast so several shorter papers had to be dispensed with.

Miss Marsh, hospital committee chairman, will attend the demonstration of the Methodist Hospital, to be held at First church, Los Angeles, in the near future. The next meeting will be an all day affair at the home of Mrs. E. D. Potter, on Verdugo Road—a kind of social picnic day—and election of officers.

LIBRARY OPEN SUNDAY

Beginning Sunday, May 6, the reading rooms of the Glendale library will be open from 2 to 5 o'clock. No books will be given out but there will be an attendant on duty to give information in regard to reference books. There has been a demand for the Sunday use of the library for some time and now that it has been arranged the convenience will no doubt be deeply appreciated.

EXPERT GARDENING INFORMATION

Mrs. Nanno Woods is making arrangements to provide experts in home gardening who will give free instruction all summer every Saturday morning to all soldiers of the soil, whether they be young or old, big or little.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

"AMARILLY" CAST WIN LAURELS IN PERFORMANCE, THURSDAY EVENING

Nothing short of that oft-used phrase "most excellent" can be used to express the manner in which the first performance of the Senior class play, "Amarilly of Clothes Line Alley" was presented last night. It was indeed a perfect presentation, being successful from a financial standpoint as well as from any other point of view. As it had been predicted there was only standing room left long before the curtain went up; a fact which undoubtedly pleased every Senior present, as the success of the play to them means the issuance of a better Stylus this year, a feat which is always the highest ambition of a graduating class.

From the time that the orchestra sounded the first note of the Star Spangled Banner until the last act was over our young actors and actresses held the undivided attention of their large audience. Florence Heacock, who took the part of Amarilly, was indeed a true leading lady, taking her part in a faultless manner all through the play. From an alley rat in the first act to a beautiful young lady in the last her action was beyond a doubt the feature of the entire play. The part of Mrs. Jenkins, who was Amarilly's mother, was cleverly executed by Jeanette McLennon, her wonderful makeup added to her capabilities as a character actress causing more laughter from the audience than any other individual. Florence Kenworthy, acting as the lady bountiful of the play, was all that could be expected in taking the part of Colette King, a friend of the Jenkins'. John Meredith, the rector who became deeply infatuated with her, was ably represented by Harold Venske. Maxwell Sheriger as "the boarder" and Marguerite Hauber as his bride, Lily Rose, created much humor in their wedding scene. Deddy Phillips, the young artist who fell in love with Amarilly, was represented by Ed Seay. The following minor parts were acted out in different parts of the play, Helen Harden as Widow Hubelston, Mary Stellar as the neighborhood gossip, Miz Hudgers, Esther Schremp as the aristocratic old maid, Miss Hester Van der Dyke, and Ernest Schuyler as the waiter. The rest of the Jenkins' children were Bud, Leslie McReynolds and Frederick Butts, Gus, Leslie Kepler, Cory, Marjorie Imler, Iry, Duane Wight and Glen Moore, Flam, Lyndon Keyes, and the twins Araminty and Arabella, Lillian Schick and Aileen Freeman. Kathryn Coates, Catherine Phillips and Katherine Renshaw, Rafael Verdugo, and Kenneth Belden were neighbors of Mrs. Jenkins.

EVENING SCHOOL SESSION

At seven o'clock on the evening of Friday, May fourth, the Intermediate school will hold a regular school session in order that parents of the attending pupils may have an opportunity to observe class work.

The evening will be divided into four periods, three of which will include classes of various subjects while the fourth period will be taken up with an auditorium assembly; this arrangement will afford an excellent opportunity for parents to become acquainted with the school routine. Parents of children in attendance at the Third Street School are urged to be present.

FREE GARDEN PLOTS

Two tracts of land on Brand Boulevard are being plowed. These tracts will have water connections, and will be parcelled out into small garden plots for children who desire to grow vegetables under supervised directions. Elderly people, and persons unable to care for large pieces of ground, will also be given free plots of suitable sizes. Apply to Mrs. Nanno Woods, 1222 Milford Street, Glendale. Phone Sunset Glendale 394.

TROUBLE IN RUSSIA FEARED

WORKMEN AND SOLDIERS' COMMITTEE DISAPPROVE OF PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT'S METHODS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, May 4.—An open rupture is threatened between the heads of the provisional government and the workmen and soldiers' committee. The latter demands that the people be informed of all plans. Two thousand soldiers called out to guard a meeting of the provisional government committee joined the workmen and soldiers' committee in demanding that the foreign minister be dismissed. They expressed their disapproval of the statement credited to the foreign minister that Russia is aiming to crush Austria and Germany. They do not approve of any loans to Russia unless completely informed of all entente war plans. A virtual armistice exists along the Russian front. No shots have been fired on the Austrian front for a month and German and Russian soldiers are known to fraternize, meeting unarmed at many places.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MAY APPOINT BERNSTORFF FOREIGN MINISTER

APPARENT EFFORTS TO EFFECT RECONCILIATION MAY BE MADE TO DECEIVE U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

COPENHAGEN, May 4.—Private advices emphasize the serious internal situation in Germany and Austria. The solution may be that Count von Bernstorff will be appointed foreign minister. Germany may be working for a reconciliation with America or it may be that she is so sorely tried that she is scheming with such false reports to delay preparations in the United States for participation in the war.

GERMANS MUST BE CAUTIOUS

U. S. GOVERNMENT WILL DEAL HARSHLY WITH SOCIALISTS WHO PLOT FOR RUSSIAN PEACE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

D. A. R. MEETING

REV. MCCREA TELLS RICHARD GRIDLEY CHAPTER OF CHINESE FAMINE

The Gen. Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., held one of the most interesting meetings of the year yesterday, at the home of the regent, Mrs. John H. Braly, 205 N. Brand boulevard. The delightful sun parlor on the second floor, where the meeting was held, was beautifully decorated with flags and bouquets of flowers in the patriotic colors. The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. T. F. McCrea, a returned Baptist missionary from China, who spoke on How American Red Cross saved a million lives in China.

In a wonderfully impressive way, with his heart full of love for those people living in darkness, the speaker told of his sad and heartrending experiences, during the terrible famine of 1906-07. Rev. McCrea was at a mission station 150 miles up the Yensei river from Shanghai and the country there is flat and only 10 or 15 feet above sea level, similar to the valley of the Mississippi river, and subject to overflows.

In the fall of 1906, just before harvest time, when the Chinese gardens were beautiful and a big crop almost ready to garner, came the mighty and terrible flood and an area of 40,000 square miles was laid waste.

The homes of thousands of people were destroyed, crops washed away and starvation stalked with multitudes.

Mr. McCrea said he had seen many terrible things, but the famine-stricken provinces of Anhwei and Giansu, with the great famine camps, in one of which, at Tsingkiang-pu, were 350,000 people, were so awful words could not express the misery. In his own home place there was a camp of 60,000 people. Everywhere the people were hopeless and desperate; parents killed or drowned their children; old people were killed and children sold to prevent starvation.

It was the most awful year the poor people had known and a good year for the rich; the latter cornered the market and though Christian people shipped in food, it was impossible to break the prices.

A group of forty missionaries organized a famine relief committee, with Rev. McCrea as secretary and treasurer, and this number was increased to 200. These missionaries were of all denominations and many different nationalities, but all eager to help in the relief work. The Christian Herald with its powerful articles on the misery in the famine districts, aroused public sympathy and money poured in and through the Red Cross, food and money were sent to the Orient.

The whole world wanted to help, and $800,000 was sent to the Relief Committee, $700,000 of which came from the United States.

To the labors of these earnest and faithful missionaries, four of whom laid down their lives during this terrible time, is due the fact that one million lives were saved from starvation.

Mr. McCrea said that the awful extent of the famine could scarcely be realized, for though a million people were saved, a million lives were lost. The generous help and sympathy of Christian nations has brought about a reversal of sentiment in China, and they have a cordial and friendly feeling to those who helped in their great need.

Rev. McCrea exhibited a number of pictures taken in China, which were of great interest.

The chapter re-elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Regent, Mrs. J. H. Braly; vice-regent, Mrs. C. W. Houston; recording secretary, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lydia M. Border; treasurer, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman; chaplain, Mrs. Martha M. Morris; registrar, Mrs. Maria L. Patterson. A delightful social hour followed the program and delicious refreshments were served. The guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Kirk and Seeley Moe.

OSBORNE-PAGE

A happy home wedding occurred on Thursday evening, May 3rd, at the Pastorium of the First Baptist church, 1450 Pioneer Drive, Glendale, when Miss Hazel Page was united in marriage to Mr. Carl Osborne, in the presence of the immediate family of the bride.

The beautiful ring ceremony was used, the nuptials being performed by Pastor Vernon H. Cowser, pastor of the bride. The couple were attended by Mr. Linwood Page, brother of the bride, who served as groomsmen, and Miss Anna De Boer, of Burbank, who acted as bridesmaid. They will reside in Casa Verdugo.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

BOARD WILL ISSUE PROCLAMATION CALLING FOR ENLISTMENTS

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale was held in the City Hall, Thursday evening, April 26, 1917. Present: J. S. Thompson, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, R. M. Jackson, F. L. Muhleman, G. B. Woodberry. Also present J. C. Sherer, City Clerk; T. W. Watson, City Manager; W. E. Evans, City Attorney; H. B. Lynch, Manager Public Service Department; Edw. M. Lynch, City Engineer; G. H. Herald, City Marshal; A. H. Lankford, Fire Marshal.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A telegram addressed to the Mayor was read from the Recruiting Officer of the Navy Recruiting Station, Los Angeles, calling attention to the fact that the State of California is far behind on its quota of men enlisting for the navy, and requesting that the Board of Trustees issue a Proclamation calling upon the young men of the community to come to the front. On motion, the telegram was ordered to be filed and a proclamation to be prepared and issued in accordance with the request.

Report was read from the Tax Collector showing receipts for the week ending May 2nd, amounting to $6,740.25, total tax collected for the season $52,887.14, leaving delinquent at the present date $4,821.85, which will be slightly reduced within the next few days.

Monthly reports were received from the following city officials and ordered to be filed: Building Inspector, City Recorder, and Health Officer.

The City Manager reported having received a letter from Chief Engineer Reagan, calling attention to the fact that two bills affecting the flood control proposition, one validating the bonds recently authorized by the bond election and the other appropriating the sum of $1,000,080.00 for flood control purposes in Los Angeles County, are now in the hands of the Governor, and requested that this city use any proper influence in its power to secure the Governor's approval of this legislation.

Chairman Thompson reported having attended a meeting in Los Angeles at which Governor Stephens was present, and that that official indicated that the bills would probably be approved in their usual course.

The City Manager read a letter from Superintendent Dodge in regard to the proposed bridge at Brand Boulevard over the wash.

The City Manager reported in regard to conservation of food, recommending that a Mass Meeting be called in the near future for the consideration of the matter. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, this matter was referred to the committee previously appointed to give publicity to the coming of the Salt Lake Railroad Company's train on May 26th.

The City Manager recommended that the sum of $75.00 a month be set aside by the Public Service Department and the same amount from the General Fund monthly to constitute an insurance fund until the amount shall reach a total of $6,000.00.

On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that the sum of $25.00 recently appropriated for the purchase of seeds be increased to $33.48.

The City Engineer stated that contracts for the improvement of Elrose Avenue and Burchett Street will be signed on May 4th. On motion of Trustee Muhleman it was ordered that the members of the Board of Trustees and the City Attorney constitute a committee to meet with a committee of the home guards of Glendale for the purpose of taking up with that body matters in connection with the work of the County Council of Defense, particularly in reference to the organization of the Glendale Home Guards.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

By Walt. Le Noir Church

Amarilly is one of those dear ones who never was too young and never will be too old to be "missed," as we witnessed her on the High School stage last night, another notable achievement for the G. U. H. S.

Everything done and every one doing added to the general attractiveness, and helped make those three hours delightful. In that connection, there is little likelihood of any one saying too many complimentary things about the beautifully varied good music provided by Mrs. Gibson and her very excellent orchestra, which is still noticeably growing in grace and harmony, with truer understanding of their well selected themes.

Taken as a whole, the play, Amarilly of Clothesline Alley, may truly be called "A secular means of grace."

Why, even the neighborly knockers, Mrs. Hubelston and old rheumatic Mrs. Hudgers, did kindly things which make us freely forgive them—in fact, almost love them.

Those twins naturally co-operated in young animal selfishness which made them dominate the rest of the tribe, mother included. All the youngsters contributed to the success of the whole; the smaller ones with the artlessness of childhood which make children so dear; those older, with that innate power of youth to win an individual or an audience whenever their powers of fascination are focussed. Even the waiter impressed one with the idea that he was bringing in a worthwhile luncheon with which we would have enjoyed a closer acquaintance.

Whoever lived in a country town could not fail to recognize the true-to-life types of gossiping neighbors who gathered around the window to peek in and see the bride, and the ever woman-heart-stirring wedding ceremony. God made flowers to bloom, and women to get married; and both are at their best when living the part assigned by their Creator. Hester Van Dyke could have pleased us even more, had the playwright given her the opportunity. We just naturally congratulated both "The Boarder," and his loving Lily Rose.

Colette, is one of those sensitives who make many needless troubles, but like sparks of light, they usually all fly upwards, straight up to the Great White Throne of Him-who-understands.

Like many another helpful Dorcas, Colette was better than she knew. Glendale owes much to her "Colettes."

The Rector of St. Mark's had convincing proof that in reality "There's a Divinity shapes our ends—rough hew them as we will."

His kindly giving again demonstrated that, whether in sacred or secular service, the surplice is a power for good in the land. Faint heart came as near losing fair lady, as was possible—when the lady was not anxious to be lost. Another case, perhaps, of "Indian not lost—wigwam lost."

As the dear public usually considers results, and proximate, rather than ultimate causes, we are apt to lose sight of much for which we should be grateful as essential factors in the success which gave us so much pleasure.

What about the Executive Staff? They're all right. "Who?" The E. S.!

What might have happened, if the Business Manager, and the Stage, ditto, had not managed masterfully; if the Property Man had not been proper; if the Advertising Eve had not lured so many Adams, with the families; if the Head Usher and her also attractive aids had not so satisfactorily seated that large audience; if the Program Committee had not been as proficient before as during the play; if the Electrician had not so scientifically mingled the lights and shadows; if the Stage Carpenter had failed in efficiency; if the Class Teacher had not been faithful through months—nay years of competent, wise instruction; or finally, had not the Chairman exercised good judgment over all and with all who knows how that most creditable and pleasure-giving entertainment might have been marred.

But we wrongly said "Finally."

Among the unmentioned essentials, several are listed on the back cover of that very artistic program, arranged, typed and printed by artisans who are also artistic in their lines. What about the loaned furnishings for the stage effects, the jewels to contrast with, but be dimmed by brighter eyes aglow with not only class and school pride, but with personal ambition and conscious ability.

What of the Art department fetching posters; the Mechanical Art Department signs, and the skillful ticket agents, without whose work many seats, perhaps, might have been empty? Furthermore, but not leastly, we should give due credit to those paramount Make-up artists, who went as far as foot-light effects justify—stopping short of the pivotal point beyond which the make-up quarrels with feminine loveliness.

What a lot of things we should be grateful for in that entrancing entertainment, if praise should go where praise is due. But, to return to our—lambs.

Amarilly never was too young, nor could she ever grow too old to "be Missed." A pun true in both senses.

Neither could Mrs. Hubelston, that much married widow; another demonstration that "A little widow is a dangerous thing." Why she would never cease "drawing the attractions of men," as filings fly to the magnet.

The odds are that she flirted with the old family doctor who received her from the Stork after that long, wearisome journey from the place they give babies away; and if she does not make gooo eyes at the Undertaker, it will be because she spies some Apollo of Spiritland coming her way.

Any mere man she happens to want may well pattern by David Crockett's coon, and shout: "Don't shoot—I'll come down." As an old Black Mammy in the sunny south-east said of the fair flower she had mothered: "Why, ma Honey-Lily was always like that, jest'nachurrull like one of them Menuses whut would flirt with the Man-in-the-Moon afore she gis clear up out of the sea." But Venus had nothing on that old Black Mammy, herself. When in the vigorous nineties, with hair snow-white, she grinningly exclaimed: "Don't ax me how old a woman gotter git 'fore she stops marryin'—ef she knows de game. Better ax somebody oldern I is."

Ed Seay's part was to innately attractive, not to be very fine.

He well combined the roles of the millionaire dilettante with that of the dreamer whom a pure young girl metamorphoses into a true artist-lover.

Miss McClennan played the most difficult part with great success.

Mrs. Jenkins is a type rare even among the brave and loyal poor. For a young girl like Miss McClennan, it required imagination which is perceptivity, with receptivity that is genius, to make the real Mrs. Jenkins so win the public heart; not only because of, but in spite of all those troubles which so seldom come singly. But in real life, even better than in Stageland, there is great need for the marked ability Miss McClennan displayed. Miss Florence Heacock is a revelation of wonderful intuitive knowledge of the best in girlhood, regardless of environment; or of the supremest art which can create a character greater than the author of the book conceived.

We had read the book; but we admire and love Amarilly much more since last night.

From her first entrance, to her final exit, she so really and truly lived her actual, beautiful self, that we forgot she was merely play-acting.

Perhaps what added that delightful illusion, is that she ignored some of the absurd ways of orthodox theatricals that have long since ceased to be reasonable—if they ever were; and which so detract from the verisimilitude of desirable state illusions.

For instance, after with smiles and grateful bows, she had duly acknowledged the generous applause and her magnificent bouquet, she walked back through the parting curtains naturally, instead of genuflecting off backwards as stagefolk were wont to do from Royalty.

The new way is certainly better. But stage conventions still hold to absurdities even worse. Juliet will break our hearts by dying from cold poison, Joan of Arc perish at the stake, then cheerfully run out to smirch and bow with that gratitude for encores which is a lively sense of favors to come.

Even Edwin Booth did not dare stop saying "He knows a hawk from a handsaw"—instead of "hershaw," which bird so resembles the hawk that only an experienced and discriminating eye can distinguish the difference at first glance.

Our High School histrionics will do more to "elevate the stage" than most associations organized for than ostensible purpose; with more or less ulterior motive.

It is a sure thing, that either Virgil, or Theocritus who wrote of the beautiful Amarillys in ages past, would love this histrionic reincarnation which won all hearts last night.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

May 3, 1917

Editor of Glendale News.

Dear Sir: A great deal has been said about the reasons for the high cost of living. There are several reasons that can explain. Competition is one thing that keeps prices reasonable. Since the war American manufacturers have no competition with eastern countries, as they are too busy fighting, hence the jump in prices of almost everything. Another great factor in food products: years ago the grocer bought most all his goods in bulk and weighed it up and sold it out himself. Now it has drifted mostly into the jobbers hands, who pack the different articles, such as currants, raisins, sugar, flour, breakfast foods, cocoa, coffee, tea and almost every mortal thing into fancy packages, attractive labels, etc., which all has to be paid for by the consumer. This has been brought about by so many people going into business that do not know or understand a thing about buying goods in bulk and it is then left to some smart jobber, wholesaler or middleman to go and buy up a certain household commodity, employ a few girls to pack and put on the market at an enhanced price. Let the public get busy and make the grocer busy. By only buying their foods in bulk they will save 25% to 50% on their food bill. When fruits and vegetables are plentiful let the housekeeper get busy and pack her own, then she won't have to pay 10 and 15 cents for a fancy can of tomatoes, corn, etc., etc. Butter, lard, margarine, all used to be sold in tubs and the grocer would display it under glass covers and weigh it as required, using wooden platters. Now it is all packed in fancy cartons. Meat was slaughtered by the butcher himself and sold by himself. Now it is all packing houses. There are very few men selling meat now who know how to kill and quarter a beast ready for market. All this has come about with so many fool sanitary laws, hence the high cost of living.

HOME GUARDS ACTIVE

About one hundred of the two hundred fifty Glendale Home Guards are exceedingly active. They met for drill at the fire house last evening with Harry Schenck, Captain, present as drillmaster. Also present C. B. Wilde, 1st lieutenant; E. H. Wight, 2nd lieutenant; J. H. Badgett, 1st sergeant; H. P. Courtney, rank and duty sergeant; W. R. Phelon, supply sergeant; F. H. Webster, mess sergeant; Corporal C. W. McFadden and others.

A couple of hours were spent in drilling, after which Captain Schenck gave out some valuable information he had gained from headquarters. Captain Schenck said he had been unofficially informed that in the course of six weeks the government will officially recognize the members of the Glendale Home Guards, providing all examinations have been regular and drill work has been done in accordance with military requirements.

As the military school work is requiring considerable time, Captain Schenck has decided that one drill night each week will be sufficient. Thursday night is the evening that has been selected for regular drill work. Captain Schenck also asks the Evening News to make public the fact that he is ready to assist friends of the soldier boys to get packages to them.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

The regular meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club was held yesterday afternoon at the City Hall, Tropico at 2:30 o'clock. Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Mrs. W. H. Bullis, president; Mrs. H. H. Davenport, first vice president; Mrs. Chas. A. Barker, second vice president; Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, corresponding secretary; Miss Gertrude Gibbs, recording secretary; Miss Ida D. Meyers, treasurer; Mrs. E. V. Bacon, Mrs. W. M. Mabry and Mrs. H. V. Findley, trustees. Miss Munn, a member of the Womens' City Club Extension committee, spoke on the extension work and advocated that each community have an open forum where all questions could be discussed. A resolution was recommended and was adopted that a committee be appointed by the president to be known as the Woman's City Club Civics committee, under the auspices of the Thursday Afternoon club, whose duty should be to arrange for these open forums. No measures to be endorsed by the club.

Following this Mrs. C. W. Kimberly, the retiring president, extended her congratulations to the officers-elect and presented Mrs. W. H. Bullis the president-elect with a large bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses.

TROPICO MEETINGS

Great interest is being shown, at Tropico, in the Union Tabernacle Campaign being conducted there under the leadership of Evangelist G. LeROI Clarke and his chorister Martindale Woods. The meeting is gripping the entire community, and promises to be a revival of great power and remarkable success.

Mr. Clarke is not only a preacher of ability, but a man of versatility in the musical line, playing the piano, cornet, guitar, mandolin, etc., in fact, it is said he is able to credibly perform upon any instrument he has ever handled.

His sermons are mighty philippics against sin, lightened and enlivened, however, with sprinklings of scintillating wit and compelling humor. Without a doubt, he is an artist in mimicry, his inimitable portrayals of the various types of unbelievers, and his illustrations, fraught with subtle humor, convulse his audience; while his dramatic impersonations and persuasive appeals grip the minds of his hearers. Men, who are judges, who have heard Sam Jones, Smith, Billy Sunday and others in that class, have been free to remark that Evangelist Clarke will compare favorably with any of them. Men and women, who heretofore have been strangers to the churches of Tropico, are attending the services, and every hearer is a booster.

An assistant of no mean ability is Prof. Woods. His solos are gospel sermons within themselves, and he manipulates the chorus choir with the trained hand of an artist. This, with the orchestra of two pianos, vio-

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, it appears that the request for enlistments in the navy has met with light response in California, and the quota of 2800 allotted to this state is yet far short of that number, and whereas, such lethargy on the part of volunteers places the state in an unenviable position in the minds of the public, and concerted action is being taken by the cities of the state encouraging enlistments, Now, therefore, an urgent request is hereby made of the young men of the city of Glendale to respond to this call for volunteers as promptly and diligently as their own private conditions and obligations will admit.
